Since the fund has not completed 1-year, tracking error is taken from the launch date of the scheme.

The tracking error may look optically elevated on account of deployment during the first few days of the scheme. This effect is transitional in nature and normalizes as the fund completes 1 year since fund launch.

Since the fund has not completed 1-year, tracking error is taken from the launch date of the scheme.

The tracking error may look optically elevated on account of deployment during the first few days of the scheme. This effect is transitional in nature and normalizes as the fund completes 1 year since fund launch.

FIXED INCOME

OUTLOOK

NOVEMBER 2025

QUICK TAKE

- Expect a 25 bps rate cut in December policy.
- Yield upside limited; investors should add short term bonds with every rise in yields.
- Short term 2-5-year corporate bonds, tactical mix of 8-10 yr Gsecs and income plus arbitrage are best strategies to invest in the current macro environment.
- Selective Credits continue to remain attractive from a risk reward perspective given the improving macro fundamentals.

Bond yields traded in a narrow range over the month with the 10-year benchmark government bond yield declining 4 basis points to end at 6.53%. US Treasury yields edged lower, with the 10-year yield ending the month at 4.07%, following interest rate cuts by the US Federal Reserve (Fed).

Key Market Events

RBI could lower rates in December: While the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) kept the policy repo rate unchanged at 5.5% in its October meeting, expectations are for an interest rate cut in December given lower inflation.

10 YEAR G-SEC YIELD

Banking liquidity in surplus: After staying in surplus since the end of March 2025, banking system liquidity has fluctuated between surplus and deficit over the past two weeks in October, affecting bond market sentiment. Liquidity has remained in surplus since the end of March 2025 and is expected to remain comfortable till January 2026 aided by drawdown of government cash balance and infusion of ~INR 2 trillion by the remaining 75 bps of CRR cuts.

Inflation falls to below 2%: Headline inflation eased to 1.54% in September vs 2.07% in August supported by a favourable base effect and continued moderation in food prices. Core inflation was higher at 4.5% vs 4.15% driven mainly by sharply higher gold prices.

US treasury yields fall: The yields on US Treasuries fell 7 bps with the 10 year yield closing at 4.07%. The Fed lowered its interest rate by 25 bps for the second time this year but indicated a rate cut in December seems unlikely.

Market view

The Fed's rate cut was very much on the expected lines, but the future guidance was on the hawkish side. We believe that the Fed will again lower rates and this is not the end of rate cycle. Given the current situation in the US, we see weakening economic indicators particularly the unemployment data.

In India, market expectations for an interest rate cut have increased, a view that we had shared earlier as well. Uncertainty around tariffs and expectations of a softer inflation trajectory—partly due to anticipated GST rate rationalization—have created room for an additional rate cut in the current easing cycle. Should the tariff impasse persist, an additional 25 bps cut could materialize in February.

With 100 bps of repo rate cuts already delivered, we believe the majority of the RBI's rate easing is now behind us. We believe that the best of the duration play is behind us. Given that inflation expectations remain well within the central bank's target range, we foresee a "lower for longer" interest rate environment.

Looking ahead, with limited scope for further aggressive rate cuts, we expect the RBI to maintain its accommodative liquidity stance (+1% NDTL). This should continue to support the shorter end of the yield curve. From a medium-term perspective, we favor accrual strategies over duration plays. We expect 10yr GSec to trade in a range of 6.30-6.65% for the remaining part of the financial year.

Fiscal concerns on the back of GST cuts coupled with worries on end of rate-cut cycle, led to an increase in the yields over the past few weeks. However in the near term, markets will be guided by lower inflation, pressures on growth, likely OMOs during Jan-Mar 2026 and possibility of inclusion in Bloomberg indices, which may provide a tactical opportunity for long bond investing.

Risks to our view: The risks to our view at this point are as below

- 1) Currency
- 2) Growth shocks globally and in India

Strategy – We have gradually reduced duration in our portfolios since February 2025 transitioning from long duration strategies to accrual-based strategies.

We have been focused on the short term 2-5 year corporate bonds in the portfolio as we expect surplus banking liquidity, lower supply of corporate bonds/ CDs due to slowdown and delay in implementation of LCR guidelines and attractive spreads and valuations. Incrementally short bonds can outperform long bonds from risk-reward perspective due to a shallow rate cut cycle, lower OMO purchases in the second half of the year and a shift in focus to Govt Debt to GDP targets.

What should investors do?

- In line with our core macro view, we continue to advise short- to medium-term funds with tactical allocation of gilt funds to our clients.

Since the fund has not completed 1 year annualized tracking difference is taken from the launch date of the scheme. The tracking difference may look optically elevated on account of deployment during the first few days of the scheme. This effect is transitional in nature and normalizes as the fund completes 1 year since fund launch.

Since the fund has not completed 1-year annualized tracking difference is taken from the launch date of the scheme. The tracking difference may look optically elevated on account of deployment during the first few days of the scheme. This effect is transitional in nature and normalizes as the fund completes 1 year since fund launch.

HYBRID

OUTLOOK ₹
NOVEMBER 2025

Quick Take - Equity

- Markets do remain overvalued across the investment part of the economy and we may see normalisation in some of these segments.
- We remain bullish on equities from a medium to long term perspective.
- Investors are suggested to have their asset allocation plan based on one's risk appetite and future goals in life.

Quick Take - Fixed Income

- Expect a 25 bps rate cut in December policy.
- Yield upside limited; investors should add short term bonds with every rise in yields.
- Short term 2-5-year corporate bonds, tactical mix of 8-10 yr Gsecs and income plus arbitrage are best strategies to invest in the current macro environment.
- Selective Credits continue to remain attractive from a risk reward perspective given the improving macro fundamentals.

KEY HIGHLIGHTS

Indian equities ended the month higher supported by strong festive demand, easing global trade tensions and better than expected earnings so far. At its highest level in October, the Nifty 50 was around 150 odd points away from its all time highs. The BSE Sensex and Nifty 50 ended the month with gains of 4.6% and 4.5%, respectively. The mid and small-cap indices outperformed, with the NSE Midcap 100 rising by 5.8% and NSE Smallcap 100 gaining by 4.7%. At a sector level, realty, IT and oil & gas indices ended higher in a month where all sectors delivered positive returns.

Bond yields traded in a narrow range over the month with the 10-year benchmark government bond yield declining 4 basis points to end at 6.53%. US Treasury yields edged lower, with the 10-year yield ending the month at 4.07%, following interest rate cuts by the US Federal Reserve (Fed).

Key Market Events

Better than expected earnings : 95 companies in BSE200 have reported results for Q2FY26 so far, accounting for 55% of BSE200 market cap. By sector, IT services, bank, NBFC, and staples are mostly out with their numbers, but many companies in auto, telecom, healthcare, NBFC, and chemicals are yet to report. For reported companies, Q2 sales growth picked up to +8.1% YoY vs 5.2% in Q1. Ex-energy/metals, growth was better at 9.8% YoY, though lower than 9.0% in Q1. All sectors have reported YoY growth in sales so far, led by consumer discretionary, auto and cement.

Lenders are benefiting from cyclical recovery, digital adoption, and well-contained credit costs. Banks delivered a broadly in-line quarter, with most banks reporting modest credit growth, modestly higher-than-expected NIMs and broadly stable asset quality and large banks seeing signs of stabilization in their unsecured book. Downstream oil players are supported by firm refining margins, stable marketing economics, and softer crude prices, which enhance cash flow and dividend visibility. In consumer tech, festive demand, disciplined unit economics, and operating leverage continue to drive structural growth. IT services companies witnessed some stabilization in growth in 2QFY26, while margins held up broadly. However, IT services companies maintained a cautious outlook, given continued headwinds of a challenging macro environment and growing disruption risks.

Overall, the tone of results and management commentary reinforces confidence in India's mid-cycle expansion story.

Trade negotiations impasse : Progress on the India-US trade deal has renewed optimism around export diversification and supply-chain realignment in India's favor, particularly in electronics, pharmaceuticals, and engineering goods. A successful conclusion could unlock greater market access for Indian exporters, reduce tariff-related uncertainties, and encourage global firms to deepen manufacturing and sourcing partnerships with India across high-value sectors.

RBI could lower rates in December : While the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) kept the policy repo rate unchanged at 5.5% in its October meeting, expectations are for an interest rate cut in December given lower inflation.

KEY HIGHLIGHTS

Equity Market View:

The earnings season has exceeded expectations so far, indicating that the earnings cycle may be approaching a bottom. Festive demand for discretionary products has been strong, though its sustainability in the coming months remains a key monitorable. As we near the end of 2025, the primary macro concern continues to be the unresolved impasse over a favorable trade agreement for India.

Against this backdrop, we maintain an overweight stance on consumption. The robust festive demand underscores the positive impact of GST rationalization. If macro tailwinds continue to flow through to end consumers, India's consumption cycle could reset meaningfully. Companies across consumer durables and automobiles have reported strong festive-season sales.

We also remain constructive on other consumer discretionary plays—especially in retail, hospitality, and travel & tourism—which are poised to gain from strengthening domestic momentum.

Debt Market View:

The Fed's rate cut was very much on the expected lines, but the future guidance was on the hawkish side. We believe that the Fed will again lower rates and this is not the end of rate cycle. Given the current situation in the US, we see weakening economic indicators particularly the unemployment data.

In India, market expectations for an interest rate cut have increased, a view that we had shared earlier as well. Uncertainty around tariffs and expectations of a softer inflation trajectory—partly due to anticipated GST rate rationalization—have created room for an additional rate cut in the current easing cycle. Should the tariff impasse persist, an additional 25 bps cut could materialize in February.

With 100 bps of repo rate cuts already delivered, we believe the majority of the RBI's rate easing is now behind us. We believe that the best of the duration play is behind us. Given that inflation expectations remain well within the central bank's target range, we foresee a "lower for longer" interest rate environment.
